The first couple, Emily and David, are newlyweds who are deeply in love. However, their happiness is short-lived when David is diagnosed with a terminal illness. Emily is devastated by the news, but she is determined to make the most of the time they have left together.

The second couple, Sarah and James, have been married for several years. They have two young children and a seemingly perfect life. However, Sarah is struggling to cope with the pressures of motherhood and marriage. She begins to have an affair with a man she meets at work.

As the two couples' lives intertwine, they are forced to confront their own beliefs about love and loss. Emily and David must learn to live with the knowledge that their time together is limited. Sarah and James must decide whether their marriage is worth fighting for.
